The new user interface for the service has meant a complete redesign of the entire web.

The design has been modified both for the end user area, which allows you to access and manage all your documents, and for the administration console, which allows the management of users and their permissions.

In addition to a complete redesign, there is

- The new website is "responsive" so it adapts to different screen sizes and configurations. A special effort has been made to adapt to the screens of mobile devices.
- Contextual menus: depending on whether the user selects folders, files or both, the context menu will present the management options in each of those cases.
